

April 1805

Lewis & Clark left the Mandan village. There were only 2 boats now. One boat had been sent home with interesting plants, animals and Indian trinkets for Pres. Jefferson. There were now a total of 33 including Sacajawea and her baby.

The upper Missouri was rough & wild. One day Capt. Lewis had to swim for his life when a bear chased him.

1805, spring

Sometime during the journey - probably after the expedition left Fort Mandan, in the spring of 1805, and headed into territory unknown to white Americans Clark's mapmaking & navigational skills came to the fore.

Tripoli

William Eaton, a former U.S. Consul to Tripoli persuaded HAMET KAR AMANLI (the brother of the bashaw) to try to overthrow his brother. Also persuaded the naval command in the U.S. to spare one midshipman and 8 U.S. marines. He gathered up another 600 European and Arab ~~mercenaries~~ ^{mercenaries} in Alexandria. They set off to march to Derna, (the nearest city to Tripoli) 500 parched miles away.

The gun holding the two hoppers was Lt. Presley Noble O'Brien & his 8 mouse. He spent his evening on the march playing his violin.
After a month & a half in the mouse, the mouse led the desperate charge to find that took the form of DEBRA, only to find it was too late. Unable to support the cost of the war, Jefferson cut a deal with the
